NEW CHANNEL

Sky Star Wars HD

From Friday

The long wait is nearly over. More than a decade after we last saw the likes of Darth Vader, Yoda and bickering robots R2-D2 and C-3PO, Star Wars blasts back into cinemas next week with the seventh unmissable adventure in the record-breaking franchise – Star Wars: The Force Awakens. Set once again in a galaxy far, far away, the new movie sees Star Trek director JJ Abrams take over the helm from Star Wars creator George Lucas. The movie, the first in a new trilogy of films, is set some 30 years after the events depicted in Return of the Jedi, and features the very latest CGI technology, including a bigger, badder Death Star called Starkiller Base.

STAR WARS REUNION

While The Force Awakens is set to make huge stars of little-known British actors John Boyega and Daisy Ridley (see panel, right), it also features the return of iconic characters Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill), Han Solo (Harrison Ford) and Princess Leia (Carrie Fisher).

Ford, of course, went on to become one of Hollywood's biggest stars, thanks to the Indiana Jones films, while Fisher overcame drug problems to become an in-demand actress and scriptwriter. Hamill, meanwhile, went on to make a good living as a voice artist, most notably as The Joker in Batman: The Animated Series and various video games, and recently joined the cast of Sky1's superhero drama The Flash as the villainous Trickster.

Now aged 64, Hamill lives with his wife Marilou in Los Angeles, where we spoke to him about his return as the Jedi knight...

'I wouldn't have done this unless Harrison and Carrie were involved'

MARK HAMILL

Mark Hamill is thrilled to be back

Q&A MARK HAMILL

How does it feel to be returning to the role of a lifetime? It's still a strange thing for me to be talking about another Star Wars movie. But I'm proud of the legacy we left and I'm happy that a new generation of fans will get to see Harrison, Carrie and me back in the roles that people loved so much. I wouldn't have done this, though, unless Harrison and Carrie were involved.

Has it been hard to keep your storyline secret? Everyone is dying to know plot details and how the three of us figure into the mix. The new film is meant to introduce a new generation of characters, so we're in the movie as a way of supporting the new characters just as Peter Cushing and Alec Guinness were established figures who were there to lend their gravitas in support of us.

How have people tried to find out the storylines? When we were making the original films, you had the odd reporter hanging around the studio bribing people to give them stories. This time, there were drones flying all over the studio to get whatever pictures they could. I had to wear a robe and hood that covered my head to go from the trailer to the sound stage.

How different is it being directed by JJ Abrams? JJ is much more upbeat – he loves the process. George was always pretty calm and thoughtful. He had the whole story in his head and wouldn't say a lot to you except to let you know when he wasn't happy.

Did it feel strange returning to Luke after such a long time? No, it's a thrill to be back. Once I had got my head around to the idea that I was returning to the role, which was a shock in itself, it didn't seem strange at all. I had spent a large part of my life putting Star Wars behind me, so I could move on and do other things and step away from everything that came with being part of a very famous film franchise.

What do you think of the new droid in the film, BB-8? They never cease to amaze me with what they're able to come up with. I said, 'How are you ever gonna top R2-D2, the most adorable droid in movie history?' And then they demonstrated BB-8 live on set – it's not CGI, it's a live prop – and I was just amazed. They let me run around with it at the creature shop in Pinewood. To go back into that world is so much fun.

What have been your biggest acting jobs since Star Wars? I've done a lot of voice work, the biggest role being The Joker. It's the ultimate lazy actor's job: you don't have to memorise your lines and you can come in looking like hell.

Do you appreciate Star Wars more the second time around? This time I appreciate it in a way I wasn't able to as a young man. It's like taking out a pair of trousers from the back of the closet and discovering a $20 bill in the pocket.

BRITS IN SPACE

British actors have always been at the forefront of Star Wars movies – whether it's been Peter Cushing and Alec Guinness in the original 1977 film or Ewan McGregor and Christopher Lee in the second trilogy.

Now, two more British actors are set for a place in Hollywood history with leading roles in The Force Awakens.

Until now, 23-year-old Daisy Ridley, who plays the heroic Rey, a scavenger on the desert planet Jakku, only had small parts in Mr Selfridge, Casualty and Toast of London to her name. Meanwhile, fellow Londoner John Boyega, also 23, who plays runaway Stormtrooper Finn, is best-known for playing an alien-fighting gang leader in 2011's sci-fi Attack the Block. Director JJ Abrams is a big fan of the film, leading him to offer Boyega the role in the space epic.

'I learned that I got the part over a nice breakfast in Mayfair,' recalls Boyega. 'JJ said, "John, you're the new star of Star Wars", and everything froze for a moment.'

Daisy Ridley in Mr Selfridge

John Boyega in Attack the Block

The entire Star Wars saga blasts onto Sky Movies

Oscar Isaac in The Force Awakens

To mark the cinema release of Star Wars: The Force Awakens, Sky Star Wars will air from Friday 11 December until Sunday 3 January. All six previous films will screen along with the animated series Star Wars: The Clone Wars and Star Wars Rebels, as well as the animated movie, Spark of Rebellion. Alex Zane will interview director JJ Abrams and stars John Boyega and Oscar Isaac at Pinewood Studios where The Force Awakens was filmed, and there will be live coverage of the film's premiere in London's Leicester Square on Wednesday 16 December.

THE GOOD AND THE BAD THE UGLY

The Doc goes 'a bit Clint Eastwood' as he gets mad and bad after Clara's shocking death

FINALE SCI-FI

Doctor Who

Saturday, BBC1 HD, 8pm

Classic monsters, Peter Capaldi going 'Clint Eastwood', a desperate bid to resurrect Clara and the return of Gallifrey... hold onto your sonic sunglasses: Doctor Who ends this week, but it's not going out with a whimper.

Series nine will close with the Steven Moffat-penned episode Hell Bent – a barnstorming finale that sees the return of the Time Lords' home world Gallifrey, which has been hidden in an alternative dimension since the Time War.

If you watched the last two episodes, you've seen the build-up. Companion Clara is gone, killed after 'facing the Raven' in the 10th episode. But when has death ever been the last word on Doctor Who? As episode 12 kicks off the Doctor is convinced there's still hope for her.

'He's still trying to deal with the whole Clara thing, still trying to find a way to bring her back,' says Capaldi, as we meet for an end-of-term chat.

Donald Sumpter takes charge as the Gallifreyan President

'And it doesn't work. It can't work. But the Doctor just can't accept that. So, in this episode, he goes back to Gallifrey because it's the only way he can think to save Clara. And he does find home – but it's not the way he would want it to be.'

WATCH OUT GALLIFREY!

To reveal more would spoil the show. Suffice to say that it will also see the return of two deadly enemies – the Cybermen, last properly seen in 2014's finale, and the Moffat-created Weeping Angels, which last popped up in 2013 when Matt Smith regenerated – plus one or two other surprising faces as well.

Series nine consciously upped the fun factor after Capaldi's darker debut season (think sonic sunglasses and an electric guitar). But returning in rage and grief to Gallifrey – a world he effectively froze in time in the 50th anniversary special – will take his Doctor to an angrier place again, adds Moffat.

'It's not so much the Doctor going bad. It's what happens when he gets really mad'

STEVEN MOFFAT

MOFFAT HITS BACK

Doctor Who chief Steven Moffat dismisses talk of falling ratings and celebrates a well-received ninth series...

ON THE WARM RECEPTION FOR SERIES NINE...

'I think it's probably the best run of reviews we've had. But then, in all honesty – and I know people don't believe me when I say this – our reviews are really quite good. A bad review for us tends to be about three stars. But it feels like a strong series to me.'

ON PAPER TALK ABOUT FALLING RATINGS...

'The consolidated ratings are doing absolutely fine – and that's not including the BBC iPlayer [figures], which we're not allowed to add. So we're doing really well, that's the truth. But I say this every year. I'm the only man who goes around apologising for a hit show.'

ON MOVING TO A LATER TIME...

'I don't think it was the smartest move we've ever made. No one's to blame for it but I don't think 8.25pm is right for Doctor Who. I think we're all agreed we're not going to do it again.'

ON RUMOURS OF A SHORTER SERIES NEXT YEAR...

'Are we going to make fewer episodes? No, that's all complete bunkum. I can confirm we're making a full series of 12 episodes, plus a Christmas special, though I don't know when they will go out. That's up to someone else.'

ON THE RETURN OF THE SONIC SCREWDRIVER...

'I created the sonic sunglasses because the Doctor had to smuggle a sonic device into Davros's office [at the start of the series] without being obvious. Once I'd written it I thought, if I were the Doctor I'd just carry on using them for a while. But I don't think we'll be waiting too long for a new screwdriver.'

ON BRINGING BACK ALEX KINGSTON FOR THE CHRISTMAS SPECIAL...

'I thought we were done with River Song, but [ex Doctor Who boss] Russell T Davies was insistent. And eventually I came round to [his] view. I was utterly knackered at the end of this series and that idea perked me up again. I thought, maybe it will perk everyone else up [if I bring her back].'

ON THE NEXT COMPANION...

'It's possible we'll have a stupid new idea later on, but at the moment I'm assuming we'll introduce a new companion in episode one of the next series. It's too early for me to say. Let's just see what happens...'

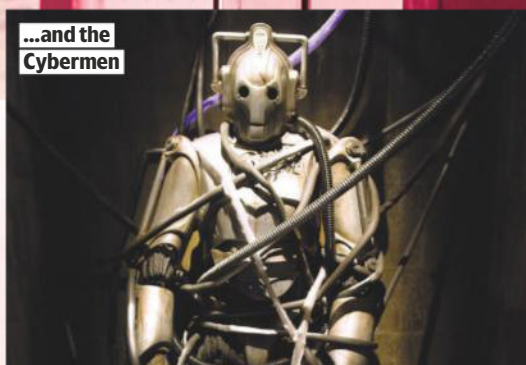

The Weeping Angels return in the finale

...as do the Doctor's arch enemies, the Daleks

...and the Cybermen

...but what dreaded thing lurks in the shadows?

'I took a long time to figure out what it would be like if he went back to Gallifrey. In [the 1969 serial] The War Games, he went there as a fugitive. In [1976's] The Deadly Assassin he was the returning bad boy. But this time he's the man who won the Time War, and they should be absolutely terrified if he showed up.'

THE DOCTOR IS HELL BENT...

'The Doctor doesn't do badass very often. But if you push him far enough – and by God we pushed him in the last episode – he gets a bit more Clint Eastwood than normal.'

'This story is called Hell Bent for a reason. It's not so much the Doctor going bad. It's what happens when he gets really mad? Well, this is it. It's that one. This time we take him to the very end of his tether.'

Fresh Prey

Philip Glenister and Rosie Cavaliero star in a high-stakes game of cat-and-mouse as ITV's gripping thriller returns

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Prey

Wednesday, ITV HD, 9pm

With extreme chase scenes and death-defying stunts, last year's Bafta-nominated Prey had us on the edge of our seats all the way to the end credits. So when Philip Glenister signed up for series two of ITV's breathless crime drama, he knew exactly what was in store.

'Lots of running, jumping off buildings and being chased by dogs,' reveals Glenister when we meet on set in Blackpool where the new three-part story is being filmed.

'I'd seen the first series starring John Simm, and thought it would be fun to do such a high-octane thriller. But I've got cuts and bruises, and I'm getting to an age now when it really takes its toll,' says the 52-year-old.

Just like the ratings-topping first series – which followed cop-turned-fugitive Marcus Farrow, played by Simm – this new chapter whizzes along at a great pace.

Rosie Cavaliero reprises her role as Detective Susan Reinhardt, who is now on the hunt for prison officer David Murdoch (Glenister). He has gone on the run with an inmate, Jules Hope (Downton Abbey's MyAnna Buring), who he had been taking to a Manchester hospital.

What Reinhardt doesn't know is that Murdoch received a phone call demanding he break out his prisoner otherwise he would never see his only daughter, Lucy (Sammy Winward), again.

'With Lucy held hostage, he is desperate to get his daughter back at all costs and has no choice but to go on the run with Jules,' explains Glenister. 'He's just a normal, everyday guy who's thrown into an extraordinary, abnormal situation.'

'I've got cuts and bruises, and I'm at an age when it takes its toll'

PHILIP GLENISTER ON PREY

SO MUCH RUNNING

Reinhardt is hot on their heels, but she's now a plain old DS with a new boss to answer to and a rookie cop to babysit. She's still comfort eating, but a new relationship means she's quit stalking her ex.

'She's moved on since we last saw her, but nothing is ever simple with Reinhardt,' says Cavaliero. 'She's also weighing up a possible job offer down south, so she's not sure whether to stay with her new man or change her life altogether.'

WHO'S WHO

Susan Reinhardt

Rosie Cavaliero

The no-nonsense cop tries to piece together why Murdoch would go on the run with prisoner Jules Hope.

David Murdoch

Philip Glenister

The desperate dad and prison officer will do anything for the safe return of his kidnapped daughter, Lucy.

Jules Hope

MyAnna Buring

The prisoner is shackled to Murdoch as the pair go on the run. However, can she be trusted?

Lucy Murdoch

Sammy Winward

Heavily pregnant and held as a hostage, David Murdoch's only daughter is used as bait.

DC Richard Iddon

Nathan Stewart-Jarrett

The young, cocky and super-keen cop annoys Reinhardt, who constantly puts him in his place.

Although Cavaliero says it feels like a totally different show this time around, one common theme has carried through from series one.

'So much running!' she exclaims. 'I've been running up stairwells then been pushed back down again, and I ran up a hill in the Lake District about 30 times. But I'd say Philip and MyAnna cover most of the physical activity this time.'

'I blame Liam Neeson,' Glenister says. 'He became an action hero in his fifties after doing those Taken films. I'm too old for it and I've been going to bed every night shouting, "Argh!"'

The driving stunts also proved to be tricky, especially as Glenister was shackled to his co-star, Buring, for most of the show.

'MyAnna was handcuffed to my right hand, so she had to do most of the driving,' he laughs. 'She's a lunatic, and I thought I was bad!'

STORY OF THE WEEK

Rob and Tracy
deceive each other during a prison visit

CORONATION STREET

Rob plots revenge from behind bars

» Robert Preston may do a decent coq au vin, but it's the other Robert who really gets Tracy's engine roaring – her ex, Rob Donovan. When he sends Tracy a visiting order from prison, she sneaks off to see him, and lies that she's single when he asks if she's met anyone.

Rob then tugs at Tracy's heartstrings as he tells her he's never stopped loving her – but it's a big lie. Earlier, he told his cell-mate he wants revenge on his ex fiancée, who shopped him to the cops when he went on the run for killing Tina McIntyre. But what does he have in mind?

Tracy isn't the only person Rob targets – Johnny Connor gets a visiting order, too. Carla warns him her brother will have an agenda, and she's right.

The colour drains from Johnny's face when Rob tells him he knows all about his past, and will spill the beans to the Connors if he doesn't cough up £10,000. What is Johnny hiding?

Johnny Connor is blackmailed by Rob

» PLUS Todd and Kylie find out about Sarah's pregnancy, Audrey sabotages Nessa's night out with Ken, Rita warns Mary that Brendan will never leave his wife, and Liz, Erica and Anna arrange to go to a singles' night.

He wears it well

Rod Stewart, more than 50 years after his first single, still gets a buzz from making music

NEW MUSIC

BBC Music Awards

Thursday, BBC1, 8pm

At the age of 70, legendary rocker Rod Stewart shows no signs of slowing down. Already this year, he's released his 29th studio album, Another Country, which reached number two in the charts, performed for Children in Need and staged a reunion gig with former band The Faces – not to mention presenting his beloved Celtic with the Scottish League Cup at Hampden Park in March.

This week, Rod the Mod keeps up his busy schedule by performing at the BBC Music Awards, hosted by Chris Evans and Fearne Cotton from Birmingham's Genting Arena where five awards are up for grabs, including Song of the Year and British Artist of the Year.

We caught up with the Tartan terror to talk clothes, cars and getting older...

I turned 70 this year, but 70 doesn't look like 70 anymore... I try not to let it. Not that I've used any of that filler or injections to keep me looking young.

Cars are my passion and I love to drive... It clears my head and I get my best ideas then. The one thing I don't do anymore is drive at night, because I like to have a drink of wine every night.

I've always been passionate about clothes... Even before I started making money with Maggie May, I would consider myself a pretty good dresser. As a teenager I was proud of my wardrobe. My boots had the big heels on them like the Beatles had.

I still keep all my old clothes... One of my favourites is a sequin suit with a little ribbon round the middle. The kids have nicked a lot of them. When they were going through their teenage years they thought all that stuff was really cool, and I never got it back.

By and large if people come up to me for a picture or an autograph I'll do it... As long as they're not rude while you're having dinner. I get upset with autograph hunters that come up with the same albums every day, because they know they can sell them. I'll ask them what was the last album I made, and they don't know.

Doing the five American Songbook albums has definitely brought me a new audience... When I listened to the first album in 2002, I wondered if I should be doing it. Am I a rock and roll traitor? But their success was so unexpected and so wonderful.

No matter what you look like, if you are lead singer you're going to get the girls... But I don't get much underwear or things like that thrown at me when I'm on stage.

Having thyroid cancer in 2000 scared the living daylights out of me... I had to retrain my voice to sing again; the muscles had to get their memory back. You realise your livelihood and the thing you love to do, the singing, can be taken away so easily.

I've been around a long time... And there comes a point where I'll have to step aside, but at the moment I enjoy the challenge of coming up with new songs, and getting them played.

Jeffrey Tambor returns as a transgender woman beginning a new life in the award-winning Transparent

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Transparent

From Friday, Amazon Prime Instant Video

Every so often a TV show comes along that breaks new ground while delighting critics and viewers alike. Amazon Prime's Transparent is just such a show.

Earlier this year, Transparent made history when it became the first series from a streaming service to win the Golden Globe for Best TV Comedy Series, while lead actor Jeffrey Tambor took home the Best TV Comedy Actor award for his portrayal of transgender retired father-of-three Mort Pfefferman, who embarks on a transition into a woman, Maura.

As season two streams this week, we caught up with 71-year-old Tambor to hear more...

What excites you most about playing Maura in season two?

I love that we've taken the bubble-wrap off Maura. This season it's Maura – warts and all.

How would you describe Maura at this point in her life?

She is still very young in terms of transition. She doesn't even know how to make up her face correctly, or how to walk across a room in high heels. She's looking for friendships. She's lost the mooring of her children and she's out there. Maura gets a little lost and hopefully we find her.

Jeffrey Tambor celebrates his Golden Globe success

How does it feel to tackle such a groundbreaking role?

I feel honoured. I'm a male given the role of a transgender woman. There's not a day goes by where it doesn't tap me on the shoulder and say, 'You're responsible.'

What did you think of the role when you first heard about it?

When I first sat down with show creator Jill Soloway, I looked at the role as a big fat pork chop. I went, 'This is my King Lear'. I didn't have a single moment of fear about it. I just went, 'Oh boy... Let me get my hands on Maura Pfefferman.'

Life after death

What's next for Meredith now that Derek is dead?

NEW MEDICAL DRAMA

Grey's Anatomy

Wednesday, Sky Living HD, 10pm

Fans of US hospital drama Grey's Anatomy were almost in need of medical attention themselves when the show's beloved Derek Shepherd, played by Patrick Dempsey, was shockingly killed off towards the end of the last series.

Nicknamed 'McDREAMY' for obvious reasons, the heart-throb surgeon's relationship with fellow surgeon Meredith Grey (Ellen Pompeo) has been at the centre of the Seattle-set show since it began in 2005. His death in a car crash left Meredith a widow and a single mother of three young children but, despite her terrible loss, the new season will not be as dark as the last one.

'We're making it a lot lighter and happier,' says 45-year-old Pompeo. 'I can't take crying anymore.'

To give Meredith time to mourn the love of her life, the show jumped ahead

a year immediately after Derek's death and the new series has moved on a further three months.

Meredith is now living in her late mother's house with her half-sister Maggie (Kelly McCreary) and her sister-in-law Amelia (Caterina Scorsone). It is a chaotic situation with the added complication that Meredith and Amelia each find the other impossible.

'Amelia is Derek's sister so she can't get rid of her,' explains showrunner Shonda Rhimes. 'And Maggie has this world of stuff happening around her, so Meredith is trapped in the middle.'

As always, romance plays a big part in the new series and Maggie

How does it feel to get into character as a woman?

The first thing that hit me was overwhelming fear because I was entering a place that was unknown to me. But then I thought, 'Well, that's right because this is exactly what Maura is feeling.'

Do you think a show like this could have appeared on TV 20 years ago?

We'd never get near this 20 years ago, but now we're part of the zeitgeist. It's amazing that Amazon went for it.

What's been the public reaction to Maura?

I get some wonderful comments, but there's still hatred.

Do you feel comfortable as Maura?

I like the clothes and mani-pedis are fantastic. Maura is very pretty; she's prettier than Jeffrey, so it's great.

Is the world coming round to the idea of change?

Kids have no problem with it. It's the 'Alter Kakers' who have a problem. 'Alter Kaker' is Yiddish for 'old fart'. But the world will have to change. That will happen.

finds love for the first time since she has been at Grey-Sloan Memorial Hospital.

Meanwhile, Amelia and Hunt are still unsure whether to develop their relationship, while April returns from Army duty determined not to give up on her marriage to Jackson.

So will Meredith herself find love again? 'You never know,' smiles Pompeo. 'We're going to see Meredith begin exploring the question, "Once you've had perfect love and marriage what do you do next?"'

'Part of her is definitely going to wonder if the best parts of her love life are already behind her.'

Is romance in store for Meredith?

Settle down with some bubbly milk for the return of Julia Davis's brilliant period comedy drama

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Hunderby

Thursday, Sky Atlantic HD, 10pm

Series one of Hunderby, the exquisitely funny and filthy period comedy drama that channelled the romantic fiction of Daphne du Maurier and Charlotte Brontë, won a Bafta and two Comedy Awards for its creator, co-writer and star Julia Davis.

Now the acclaimed and highly original show is back for two eagerly-anticipated specials that promise more dark dealings among the God-fearing folk of a 19th-century village on the English coast.

For those unacquainted with the Gothic delights of the show, the first series centred on shipwreck survivor Helene (Alexandra Roache), who married pastor Edmund (Alexander Macqueen) and moved into his family home, much to the chagrin of his terrifying, Mrs Danvers-like housekeeper Dorothy (Davis).

Under pressure to produce an heir, the unhappily married Helene found herself falling for the charms of the dashing Doctor Foggerty (Rufus Jones), himself married to 'crippled Hester' (Rosie Cavaliero).

As we pick up the action, Foggerty and Helene are awaiting the annulment of his marriage, which will allow them to wed. Meanwhile, the scheming Dorothy is intent on becoming the pastor's third wife by fair means or foul.

With the Hunderby dinner table set for a delicious feast of 'burst calf brains on a lardy bread', TV&Satellite Week caught up with Julia Davis and Rufus Jones to find out what's in store....

AFTER THE FALL

'We pick up the action a couple of months after the end of series one,' says Davis, who co-writes Hunderby with Barunka O'Shaughnessy. Edmund is recovering from being crushed by Arabelle, his first wife who, in a nod to Jane Eyre, had been hidden in the attic. However, as a result of Edmund's injury, a new pastor, played by Reece Shearsmith, has been brought in to take on his duties.

'Pastor John is a puritanical proper clergyman, who wants to clean up Hunderby,' Davis reveals.

Meanwhile, Foggerty and Helene have been reunited, and had their baby, 'child Ronald'.

Although they appear blissfully happy as we return to Hunderby, the passionate doctor is in for a rough ride.

A CASUAL CONNECTION

'Things unravel for him quickly and there's an awkward triangle between Hester, his legal wife, and Helene, his love,' says Jones, best-known for his roles in W1A and the TV adaptation of JK Rowling's The Casual Vacancy. 'In episode two the script really goes off a cliff and is quite frenzied and cruel as, in a fit of lovelorn over-emotion, he beats himself up in two very particular ways.'

Foggerty's soothing exclamation of 'Hush, ho!' in moments of high drama has become one of the show's catchphrases, and Jones says it's come back to haunt him in some unlikely situations.

'When I did The Casual Vacancy, we were all waiting to meet JK Rowling, and she came up to me and said: "Hush, Ho!" he smiles. 'It's so weird. A lot of people in comedy love Hunderby – it's a real connoisseur's show.'

For those who are still hungry for more Hunderby after the specials, the good news is that the door has not been shut on further misadventures for Dorothy, Foggerty and co.

'It's safe to say the ending is unresolved,' hints Davis in conclusion. 'So yes – I think it could carry on.'

Blake Harrison takes a trip to a parallel universe in an outlandish comedy drama

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Tripped

Tuesday, E4 HD, 10pm

Blake Harrison, who made his name as gormless Neil in The Inbetweeners, has always had a lifelong dream of playing an action hero. Now, in E4's quirky new comedy drama Tripped, his wish comes true – although all is not quite as it seems...

The four-part series centres on Harrison's character, Danny, who is engaged to Kate (Georgina Campbell). However, his life takes a bizarre turn when, along with his stoner best friend Milo (George Webster), he's sucked into a crazy adventure that results in the pair journeying through parallel universes, while trying to dodge an assassin, Callum (Richard Gadd).

'It's a little bit Bill & Ted, a little bit Spaced', says Harrison, 30. 'Danny used to be a layabout and is now growing up, but Milo hasn't really changed from when he was 15. When Milo finds himself in a situation and phones Danny for assistance, they both accidentally stumble into this parallel universe.

'For Danny, because he's getting married, the series is about trying to get home, but Milo is dragging his heels because he is lonely and is just enjoying the adventure.'

The series is full of high-stakes drama, which is no surprise as it is penned by brothers Harry and Jack Williams, who also wrote the gritty drama The Missing.

The humour lies in the incongruity of these two slackers fighting for their lives in the different parallel universes, one of which Harrison describes as 'Game of Thrones meets Mad Max'.

'Tripped has some dark moments, but the comedy comes from the fact that the two lead characters shouldn't be Danny and Milo,' says Harrison. 'They should be two secret agents or superheroes that can deal with the situation. Unfortunately, it's two idiots from a suburban town who are in over their heads.'

For Harrison, having to act alongside another version of himself was quite a challenge.

'You have to learn double the amount of lines,' he smiles. 'I had to be the real Danny acting with the parallel universe version, played by a stand-in actor who looked like me, and then we flipped it around. That messes with your head.'

However, the action scenes were a major draw. 'I'm a big superhero and sci-fi fan, so doing some of my own stunts and having fight scenes with swords was fun,' says Harrison, who also suffered for his art when he worked with the CGI special effects that are integral to the series.

'At one point we had to stand in a shopping centre throwing mad shapes with our bodies with a green screen behind us,' he says. 'It must have been bizarre to watch and it's one of my more embarrassing days on set.'

The Inbetweeners

STUPID BOY!

After negotiating parallel universes, Blake Harrison's next role sees him travel to wartime Walmington-on-Sea to play mummy's boy Private Pike in the much-anticipated film version of Dad's Army, which is released in February.

Harrison was thrilled to meet Ian Lavender, who played Pike in the original TV series and who has a cameo as Brigadier Pritchard. He also relished acting with Michael Gambon, Bill Nighy, Tom Courtenay and Catherine Zeta-Jones.

'They are Oscar winners and knights of the realm and there was little old me,' he says. 'At lunch I'd sit there like I was at primary school at story time because Michael would talk about the amazing people he worked with and then Bill and Tom would jump in. I've never had lunches on set that were as entertaining as on Dad's Army'.

What happens in Vegas...

Trevor McDonald exposes the dark underbelly of America's Sin City

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Las Vegas with Trevor McDonald

Monday, ITV HD, 9pm

For the visitors who flock there in search of a good time, Las Vegas is all about glitz and glamour. But as Trevor McDonald reveals in a new two-part documentary, there is a darker side to life in America's gambling capital.

Las Vegas with Trevor McDonald follows the journalist as he exposes Sin City's seedy underbelly by talking to a prostitute, a pimp and an ex-mobster, and going on an armed raid to apprehend a fugitive.

'This is not the sort of thing you see when you think of Las Vegas, the lights and all the entertainment,' explains McDonald, who also gets an insight into Vegas's more glamorous side by meeting a casino high-roller and a showgirl. 'There's a brutal side to Vegas life, and people's lives are affected and damaged by it. It's the city that gives you the impression that anything goes – but that's not true.'

Although it's illegal in Vegas, prostitution is rife there and McDonald finds out more about the industry by visiting a refuge for former sex workers.

'We went to a place called Destiny House where these girls try to rehabilitate themselves, and I was very moved by their stories,' he says. 'It's the nightmare bit of the American dream – that feeling that everybody can make money. People see the lights, the entertainers on stage and they think: "Well, I could do this". And, as we saw from the women at Destiny House, that's not always the case.'

While in Vegas, McDonald got to interview one of its most famous residents, former boxer and world heavyweight champion Mike Tyson.

'Tyson was fascinated by the fact that I had a knighthood – I think he thought I was some kind of black Sir Lancelot or something. He didn't really know what to make of me.'

His most hair-raising experience saw McDonald accompanying a gun-toting bail bondsman on a raid – though he says that pales in comparison with what he experienced during his days as a foreign correspondent.

'I look back at some of the things I've done in the Middle East and think: "Well, that was stupid",' he admits. 'I was much younger then. I would not under any circumstances go to Syria today. I have never yet found a place where I thought: "This would be a nice place to die".'

Blood and Gold: The Making of Spain

Tuesday, BBC4 HD, 9pm

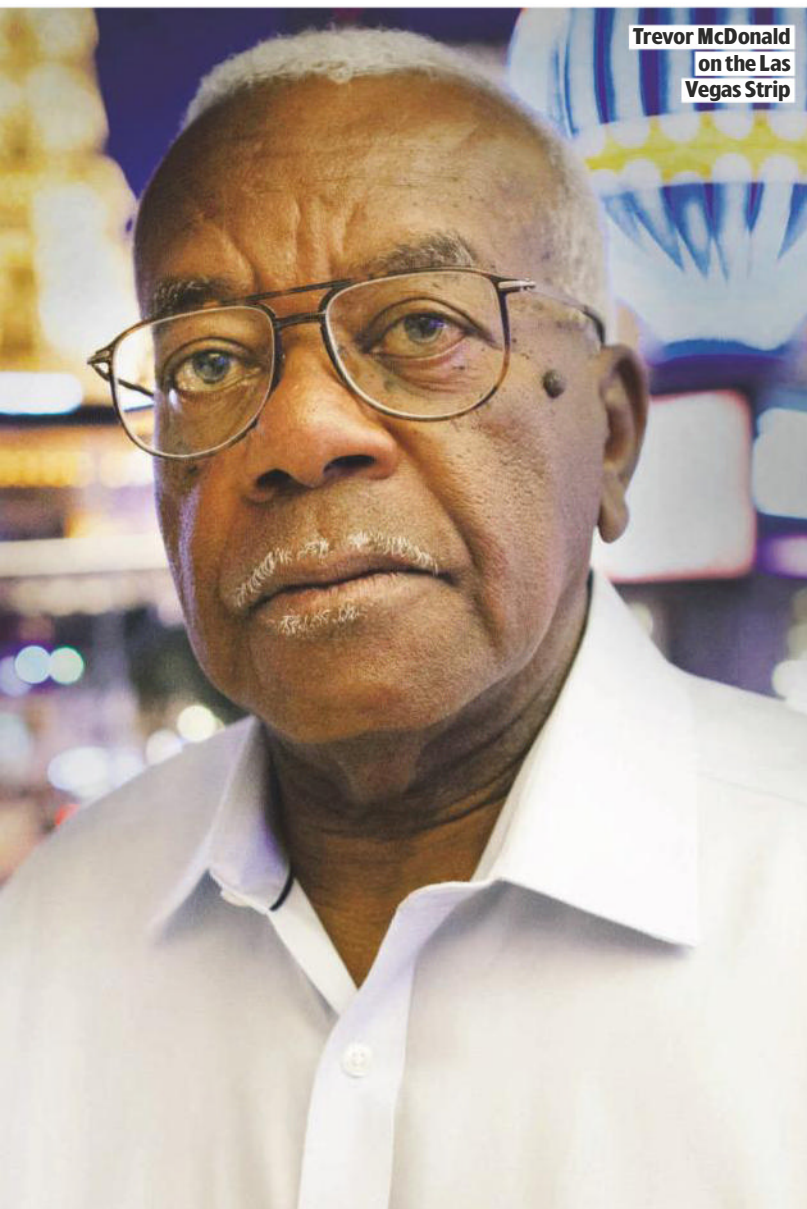

Author and broadcaster Simon Sebag Montefiori follows up his histories of Jerusalem, Rome and Istanbul with a look at a European country with close links to all three cities in Blood and Gold: The Making of Spain.

The three-parter traces 2000 years of Spanish history, starting this week with the age of Iberia as a prized Roman colony and continuing with the Muslim conquest of the peninsula.

'Spain has a very romantic and also ferocious history,' says Montefiori, whose own family can trace back links to the country's Sephardic Jewish population.

Trevor McDonald

'It's fascinating because it's been formed by its Islamic, Roman, and Christian period.

'Spain is a place everyone thinks they know well, but in fact it is enormously complex and exciting,' he adds. 'Spanish history has everything from Hannibal, Hadrian and the Caliphs to Philip II and the Armada, Franco and the Civil War, and Napoleon, too. It's one of the great borderlands of Europe, and I have a taste for borderlands and the extremities that are characteristic of them.'

Alex Polizzi sets out to help unemployed veterans adjust to life on civvy street

NEW CAREERS

Alex Polizzi: Hire our Heroes

Friday, BBC2 HD, 9pm

Best known as the hotel inspector, businesswoman Alex Polizzi takes on a different challenge as she tackles unemployment among ex-forces personnel in her latest TV venture. The two-partter follows the 44-year-old as she learns about the challenges facing medically discharged veterans, and helps them prepare for working life on civvy street. We caught up with her to find out more...

Why did you choose this subject?

The BBC asked me to do a passion project, and one of the things I was interested in was the employment of veterans. There's been a massive process of redundancy in the armed forces – thousands have left in the last four or five years.

What did you hope to achieve?

There are so many unemployed veterans, despite the fact that they are highly skilled, trained and motivated. So I decided, very naively, to see what the problem was and try to sort it out.

What did you learn while making the programme?

The veterans I worked with were discharged because of post-traumatic stress disorder [PTSD], and mental health provision is desperately underfunded in the UK.

What particular challenges do the veterans face?

PTSD is an invisible illness so, unless they self-refer, there can be substance abuse, marital breakdown and homelessness. We've spent a lot of money training these people to do amazing jobs; it beggars belief that we're not helping them get over this hump in their lives.

Will Smith and Margot

Robbie team up as veteran and novice partners in crime for this glossy caper movie, but with Smith misplacing his usual charm it is the incandescently sexy Robbie who steals the movie. Set in the slippery world of confidence tricksters, the film finds Smith's expert con artist Nicky taking Robbie's newbie grifter Jess under his wing after she tries to entrap him in a hotel sting. As he schools her in his art, the pair are soon striking amorous sparks, but Nicky breaks off their affair following an audacious swindle at a New Orleans football game.

However, when their paths cross in Buenos Aires three years later, in the midst of an elaborate con game involving Rodrigo Santoro's millionaire Formula 1 racing team owner, their former history threatens to scupper Nicky's daring scheme.

Rising star Robbie made a big impression opposite Leonardo DiCaprio in The Wolf of Wall Street and she sparkles even more brightly here, but the slick Smith simply looks smug.

Meanwhile, the movie unfurls so many twists and turns that it is in danger of tying everyone in knots. The sleight of hand on display is often dazzling, but when it comes to the story's eventual outcome most viewers will be a step ahead. 2015, 15, 105MIN

Kill the Messenger

Friday, Sky Premiere HD, 9.45am & 10pm/Sky Premiere+1, 10.45am & 11pm ★★

Jeremy Renner is on terrific form as an intrepid journalist seeking to uncover government corruption in this fact-based conspiracy thriller, but the rest of the movie doesn't live up to his impressive performance.

Renner nails the dogged fearlessness of San Jose Mercury News reporter Gary Webb as he uncovers evidence of covert CIA dealings with drug traffickers in the mid-1990s, and he is equally good at showing Webb's vulnerable side when he subsequently becomes the target of a vicious smear campaign.

But the film never sustains the necessary level of tension and some of its key scenes ring false, which seems more than a shame when you are trying to tell the tale of a man brought down by his devotion to the truth. 2014, 15, 112MIN

This sci-fi adventure is a cosmic misfire: spectacular to look at but spectacularly silly, especially when stars Mila Kunis and Channing Tatum are taking stabs at the ridiculous dialogue. Kunis is the eponymous Jupiter, a cleaner in present-day Chicago who learns she is actually space royalty after Tatum's pointy-eared space soldier rescues her from space assassins. The batty plot tries to smother what kitsch pleasures it has to offer. 2015, 12, 127MIN

While it doesn't quite capture the magic of the classic 1947 seasonal fantasy starring Edmund Gwenn, this update is certainly an improvement on the 1973 made-for-TV version. Richard Attenborough is perfectly cast as the department store Santa who is forced to go on trial to prove his sanity when he claims to be the real Father Christmas. The appealing Mara Wilson, who will be familiar from Mrs Doubtfire and Matilda, takes the role played by Natalie Wood in the original. 1994, U, 114MIN

There is an international conspiracy by the cats of the world to discredit dogs and replace them in the affections of pet owners, and it is up to one clumsy suburban pup to stop them. The story is very, very silly, but also fast, funny and imaginative. It is all aimed fairly and squarely at a pre-teen audience, although adults should be kept amused by the clever special effects and James Bond-style spoofery. 2001, PG, 87MIN

Following his success in the US version of The Office, Steve Carell consolidated his position as one of America's most likeable comedy actors as a fortysomething belatedly seeking to divest himself of his virginity. The film provides much amusement at the expense of preening masculine sexuality and laddish courtship rituals but, beneath all the raunchy gags, it also has something sensitive to say about the fragility of the male ego. 2005, 15, 116MIN

Sky Movies temporarily launches the Star Wars channel in preparation for the new film, Star Wars: Episode VII – The Force Awakens, which is released in cinemas on Thursday, 17 December. Here, the re-christened first Star Wars movie looks and sounds even better than it did when it was first released back in 1977, thanks to some enhanced special effects, but it is amazing how well the film's matinee thrills and innocent romance compare with today's more technically advanced sci-fi epics. See feature, page 4. 1977, U, 124MIN

PAY-PER-VIEW HIGHLIGHTS

The pick of the week on Sky Store and Virgin Movies

Ant-Man ★★
Possessing a special suit that enables the wearer to shrink to the size of an ant seems a comically puny superpower to give a hero, yet Paul Rudd's miniscule Ant-Man punches well above his weight – and so does this engaging Marvel Comics adventure. The film makes the most of the humour inherent in the scenario, although the plot is standard action fare. (12, 117min)

Inside Out ★★★★★
Pixar's best film since Toy Story 3 and Up finds five personified emotions – Joy, Fear, Anger, Disgust and Sadness – living inside an 11-year-old girl's head, guiding her feelings and processing her new memories. The film works as an engaging adventure, packed with colour and incident, while also cleverly and humorously mapping out the workings of the brain. (U, 102min)

Listen to Me Marlon ★★
A riveting documentary delving into the personal archive of Hollywood legend Marlon Brando to create what amounts to a posthumous self-portrait. Through snippets of several hundred hours of audio recordings made by Brando before his death in 2004, we gain an insight into his amazing life and career. (15, 102min)

Love & Mercy ★★
This superb biopic of Brian Wilson, the troubled musical genius behind 1960s pop icons The Beach Boys, casts two very different actors to play its protagonist at two stages of his life. Paul Dano is the young Brian of the 1960s, pushing the envelope of pop music, while John Cusack plays the damaged 1980s version, his mental health wrecked by drugs and nervous breakdowns. (12, 121min)

The Man from U.N.C.L.E. ★★
PREMIERE (Sky Store & Virgin Movies from Mon) Guy Ritchie gives the iconic 1960s TV series a slick and stylish reboot, delivering a deliciously old-fashioned romp, a breezy mix of spy caper and buddy movie. Set in 1963 against a backdrop of Cold War suspicion and jet-set cool, the film finds the mismatched espionage duo – suave CIA operative Napoleon Solo (Henry Cavill) and scowling

ACTION THRILLER
Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation ★★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Tom Cruise's fifth outing as daredevil spy Ethan Hunt delivers another hugely entertaining round of white-knuckle thrills teetering on the edge of absurdity. With Alec Baldwin's testy CIA chief striving to disband the IMF, Hunt is on the trail of a shadowy organisation of renegade spies, aided by Simon Pegg's bungling sidekick Benji and by Rebecca Ferguson's lithe and mysterious femme fatale Ilsa Faust. 2015, 12, 131MIN

KGB agent Illya Kuryakin (Armie Hammer) – reluctantly joining forces to thwart an international gang of nuclear-bomb wielding baddies. (12, 116min)

Minions ★★
Gru's zany, goggle-wearing, yellow sidekicks in the Despicable Me movies get their own animated adventure and prove just as kookily cute and funny as on their previous outings. Here, the blindly-devoted lackeys latch on to baddie Scarlet Overkill (voiced by Sandra Bullock), who takes a trio of plucky Minions to Swinging Sixties London to steal the Queen's crown. (U, 91min)

Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation ★★★★★
PREMIERE (Sky Store & Virgin Movies from Mon) See review, above. (12, 131min)

Pixels ★★
PREMIERE (Sky Store & Virgin Movies from Mon) Adam Sandler's former teenage arcade video game champ has to dust off his old skills in this lame sci-fi action comedy when an extraterrestrial force invades Earth in the form of classic 1980s games, such as Pac-Man, Space Invaders and Donkey Kong. The action has a fair amount of zip but the comedy scenes are a flop. (12, 106min)

Southpaw ★★
Jake Gyllenhaal, pumped up and fighting fit, oozes blood, sweat and tears with conviction as a boxing champion whose life is left in ruins following a shock incident. This timeworn melodrama pummels us into submission with brutal action inside the ring and, unfortunately, relentless clichés everywhere else. (15, 124min)

Ted 2 ★★
The inevitable sequel to 2012's shamelessly rude buddy comedy about a Boston slacker and his living teddy bear chum has enough puerile fun to keep fans of the first film satisfied. Mark Wahlberg is back as stoner John and Seth MacFarlane again voices stuffed bear Ted, who finds himself caught up in a legal wrangle. (15, 116min)

Trainwreck ★★
PREMIERE (Sky Store & Virgin Movies from Mon) As writer and star of this raunchy romcom, American comedian Amy Schumer unleashes the drunken slut persona – a hard-partying New York singleton – from her cable TV comedy sketch series Inside Amy Schumer. Director Judd Apatow steers the film into familiar territory, but Schumer's taboo-busting japes still create quite a frisson. (15, 125min)

FA Cup Second Round

LIVE FOOTBALL

Sunday & Monday, BT Sport 2 HD

A coveted place in the third round of the FA Cup and the opportunity to tackle Premier League opposition awaits a host of lower-league hopefuls this weekend.

BT Sport's coverage begins with Sunday's clash between Lancashire rivals Rochdale and Bury (kick-off 12noon) who registered impressive wins against fellow League One teams – Swindon Town and Wigan Athletic respectively – in round one.

The teams' last two meetings, dubbed the M66 derby by fans, have been 0-0 stalemates, but after their impressive start to the season Bury will be the slight favourites.

On Monday, non-league Grimsby Town host League One's Shrewsbury Town (kick-off 7.45pm), looking for more goals from Padraig Amond who has already scored four times in Grimsby's Cup campaign this season.

Catherine Cawood

Sarah Lancashire returns for more twists and turns in the slick crime drama

Happy Valley

The last series of Happy Valley saw dogged Yorkshire cop Sergeant Catherine Cawood (Sarah Lancashire) battered and bruised as she tried to bring her daughter's rapist, Tommy Lee Royce (James Norton), to justice.

Now, it looks like Catherine is in the wars again in this shot from the much-anticipated second series of Sally Wainwright's award-winning crime drama, which is currently filming and will air next year.

The new run, which finds Catherine on the trail of a serial killer, will also see Norton return as her nemesis, who is now in prison. Siobhan Finneran is back as her loyal sister, Clare Cartwright.

Meanwhile, new faces include Mr Selfridge's Katherine Kelly as Alison, a cop on Catherine's team, while Kelly's former Corrie co-star Julie Hesmondhalgh plays nurse Amanda, who is married to DS John Wadsworth, played by Downton Abbey's Kevin Doyle.

Also look out for Jamaica Inn's Shirley Henderson as Frances, an enigmatic woman who befriends Tommy. Plus, Scott & Bailey's Amelia Bullmore and Harry Potter's Matthew Lewis will also appear as the mysterious Vicky and Sean.

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Paul Hollywood

The co-judge on The Great British Bake Off will host Food Network's Paul Hollywood City Bakes in which he will travel across Europe and North America highlighting great bread and pastry recipes.

Mel Giedroyc

Paul Hollywood's Bake Off co-star will play the Von Trapps' housekeeper Frau Schmidt in The Sound of Music Live! on this Christmas. EastEnders' Maria Friedman will play Mother Abbess.

Coming back...

ITV crime drama

Unforgotten

will return for a second series.

The drama, which saw Nicola Walker and Sanjeev Bhaskar investigate a murder from the 1970s, will be back with a brand new historical case.

Porridge looks set for a comeback. Writers Dick Clement and Ian La Frenais have written a pilot episode for a potential BBC1 one-off, featuring the jailbird grandson of old lag Fletch (Ronnie Barker).

IN PRODUCTION

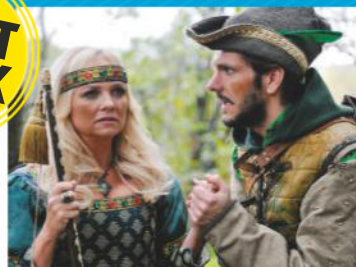

Here's to Drunk History

Check out this great first shot of Emma Bunton and Mathew Baynton as Robin Hood and Maid Marian in the second series of Comedy Central's Drunk History, which sees tipsy comedians telling historical stories, which are acted out by famous faces.

The new series, airing early next year, will also feature Jack Whitehall, Olivia Colman and Michelle Keegan.

RED ARROWS HAWK T1

50TH ANNIVERSARY COMMEMORATIVE WATCH

YOURS FOR JUST £25.99 NOW, followed by four further interest-free instalments of £25.99

Shown larger than actual size. Bezel measures 1.8 inches 4.65 cm in diameter. Strap (inc. buckle) measures 8.3 inches (21 cm) in length.

IN 2015 we honour the 50th anniversary of the formation of the renowned Red Arrows – one of the world's premier aerobatic display teams, comprised of skilled, highly-experienced pilots and distinctive Hawk T1 jets. Encapsulating speed, agility and precision, the famed Red Arrows are now commemorated by an heirloom watch.

A prestigious tribute to these aviation icons, this heirloom watch features a rugged stainless steel casing and strap. Inspired by the high-tech cockpit design of Hawk T1 jets, the dial showcases three precision chronograph dials with minute and second stop-start function and a Hawk jet design in addition to a date display. The precision Quartz movement watch's reverse is etched with a Red Arrows formation design, 'Red Arrows' and words associated with this elite British aviation display team.

This edition will only be available from The Bradford Exchange, and your purchase is covered by our 120-day guarantee. Applications are now open and this offer is likely to attract considerable interest, not just from watch collectors, so prompt application is advised.
